

Fabrizio Giulianini
CEO SELEX Galileo

Fabrizio Giulianini graduated with full honours from the University of Rome (1972-1977) with a degree in Mechanical Engineering and became a Doctor of Engineering. After completing his military service as Air Force lieutenant, he joined CTIP S.p.A. where he started his career as a Project Engineer eventually becoming Project Manager and then Proposal Manager for major international programs (1984-1987).

Within the Finmeccanica group, Fabrizio Giulianini was Deputy Managing Director of SELEX Communications – formerly Marconi plc - and held responsibility for managing the activities of the international subsidiaries of the company. At Marconi, he acted as Commercial Director of Strategic Communications Group, Deputy Managing Director of the Group, Executive Group Vice President of Marconi Wireless and member of the Board of Directors of various Marconi plc companies.

He then joined MBDA as Executive Group Director for Sales & Business Development and Managing Director of MBDA Italia. At MBDA Fabrizio Giulianini held a number of senior positions including President of EUROSAM GIE and EISYS SpA., member of the Board of Directors of EUROPAAMS Sas. EUROMEADS GmbH, member of the Board of Directors of AIAD and member of the International Affairs Institution (IAI).

On 16th February 2009, Fabrizio Giulianini was appointed Deputy CEO of SELEX Galileo and Managing Director & General manager of Galileo Avionica S.p.A. He was later made SELEX Galileo's Chief Executive Officer, and has held this role since the 1st January 2011.

Fabrizio Giulianini lives in Rome and is married with three children.